Moody's Analytics strengthens management of UK Banking, Corporate Finance and Brokerage territory with appointment of new Relationship Manager – Henry Nicholls

Henry took on the role of Relationship Manager for the UK Banking Market in January this year and, with the support of a dedicated team of professionals, is focused on deepening Moody's Analytics client relationships in what is one of our firm's key strategic markets globally. Moody's Analytics works with multiple clients groups in the region, including major banks, corporate advisory, brokerages firms and other financial institutions. In recent years, Moody's Analytics has been involved in many innovative and complex projects in the UK banking market, helping risk management professionals in responding to an evolving marketplace with confidence. Based in London, Henry manages, together with the rest of the team of specialists, the entire commercial offering of all products and services designed for UK banks.

Henry joined Moody's Analytics in 2009, managing key customer relationships and complex engagements for Moody's Analytics' largest global clients. Prior to joining Moody's Analytics, he worked for Allied Irish Bank in London, working in Corporate Banking and then Business Change Management. Henry was educated at The King's School, Canterbury and then studied at Exeter University.
