Moody's Analytics named CLO Data Provider of the Year for second straight year

NEW YORK, May 31, 2018 – Moody's Analytics, a leading provider of financial intelligence, has won CLO Data Provider of the Year at the GlobalCapital US Securitization Awards. This is the second year in a row that the Moody's Analytics Structured Finance Portal has won this award.

GlobalCapital readers select the winners of the US Securitization Awards. The list of nominees for each award is compiled from industry nominations, Global Capital's own research, and peer review. The editors of GlobalCapital then select a short list of nominees for each award, and present them to readers for voting.

The Moody's Analytics Structured Finance Portal offers customers a comprehensive view of the CLO universe and helps them make informed decisions with insight into their portfolios as well as managers, deals, and an assortment of regulatory-based metrics. Customers are able to instantly access detailed performance metrics of CLO deals, tranches, and underlying loans. The Portal also enables customers to analyze the performance of CLO managers. Customers can access deeper information to learn more about a manager's style and trading behavior and compare managers side-by-side and against the broader market.

Earlier this year, Moody's Analytics began partnering with Citi by providing CLO analytics and data from the Structured Finance Portal on the Citi Velocity platform. This partnership demonstrates our commitment to providing CLO market participants with innovative and sophisticated solutions.

"We're proud to be recognized again by the readers of GlobalCapital," said Luis Amador, Managing Director-Structured Products and Advisory Services at Moody's Analytics. "Winning this award for the second straight year underscores how our customers are continuing to use our Structured Finance Portal to support their decision making. It also highlights the breadth and quality of our structured finance data, which supports all asset classes globally and includes real-time and historical metrics."

"The data provider categories were hotly contested this year, and GlobalCapital is happy to recognize Moody's Analytics as the CLO Data Provider of the Year for the second year in a row. Respondents cited the depth and clarity of Moody's Analytics data as an invaluable tool in assessing the position of their CLO portfolios and providing broader insight into the state of the market," said GlobalCapital editor, Max Adams.
