i9 Partners Selects Moody's Analytics for IFRS 9 Calculations

JOHANNESBURG, January 28, 2019 – Moody's Analytics, a leading provider of financial intelligence and analytical tools, announced today that Johannesburg-based accounting advisory firm i9 Partners has selected the Moody's Analytics ImpairmentCalc™ solution to provide their clients with expected credit loss (ECL) calculations in accordance with the IFRS 9 accounting standards.

The ImpairmentCalc solution is a modular, flexible, and comprehensive platform that incorporates internal credit risk measures and runs multiple macroeconomic scenarios simultaneously to produce repeatable, auditable, and transparent forward-looking loss allowances.

"The breadth of macroeconomic data provided by Moody's Analytics allows us to apply credible forward-looking scenarios for clients without the need for massive data samples," said Laurence Milner, Co-founder and Director of i9 Partners. "Their expertise, experience, and reputation were also very important to us in selecting a provider; our clients can always rest assured that best practices in credit measurement are being applied."

Chartis Research recently awarded Moody's Analytics the IFRS 9 Category Winner award in its 2019 RiskTech100® rankings of risk and compliance technology providers.

"We look forward to working with i9 Partners to provide IFRS 9 ECL calculations to their clients across South Africa," said Deepak Parmani, Director at Moody's Analytics. "We are delighted that they can leverage our experience in global markets to help their clients meet IFRS 9 requirements."
